In re)	Fair Hearing No. 10,896
)
Appeal of)

INTRODUCTION

The petitioner appeals the decision by the Department of Social Welfare terminating her ANFC benefits. The issue is whether the Department may consider the income of the father of one of her children in computing the petitioner's eligibility for ANFC.

FINDINGS OF FACT

This is another so-called DEFRA case, in which the Department, pursuant to federal statute, mandates the inclusion in an ANFC "assistance group" of the siblings and parents of all eligible children. In the petitioner's case, she resides with one child from a previous marriage and one child she has in common with another adult residing in her home. Prior to November, 1991, the petitioner received ANFC for herself and for the one child whose father is absent from the home. The petitioner's other child was support by his father, who was working. However, when the father of that child recently became unemployed, the Department notified the petitioner that he and the child would have to be included in the petitioner's ANFC assistance group and that the income of the father (unemployment benefits) would be considered as available to the entire household. As a result of this additional income being "deemed" available to the entire household, the Department terminated the petitioner's ANFC grant.

The petitioner, who appeared pro se, took no issue with the facts and figures relied upon by the Department in its determination. Although she disagrees with the effect and rationale of the regulations in question, she could not dispute that the Department was applying those regulations correctly to her situation. Some of her frustration stems from her belief that the Department is not aggressively enough pursuing child support from the absent father of her child.

ORDER

The Department's decision is affirmed.

REASONS

Over the past several years the board has considered dozens of appeals concerning the provisions in the regulations, adopted pursuant to the 1984 DEFRA amendments to the federal ANFC statutes, mandating the inclusion in an ANFC household of all siblings, and parents of those siblings, who reside with ANFC-eligible children, and "deeming" the income of those siblings as "available" to the entire ANFC household. See Fair Hearing's No. 6648 et al. and W.A.M. 9 2242. This case again illustrates the incongruity in the manner in which Congress implemented these so-called deeming provisions.¹

Nonetheless, it is clear in this matter that the Department has correctly followed what the United State Supreme Court has upheld as a valid procedure for determining the ANFC eligibility of individuals in the petitioner's circumstances.² Therefore, the board has no choice but to affirm the Department's decision. 3 V.S.A. § 3091(d) and Fair Hearing Rule No. 19.

FOOTNOTES

¹By statute, mandatory household inclusion and income-deeming of half-siblings occurs only when the parent of that sibling is absent, unemployed, or incapacitated--but not when the parent is living in the household and is working. See 42 V.S.C. § 602(a)(38).
